

Tom's Tourney Daily

Friday 29/04/2011

Welcome

"just saying hi"

Hi there, and welcome to the 19th edition of Tom's Tourney. We hope you had a good day, played fun games, enjoyed dinner and the atmosphere on the pitch. To keep you all informed and happy, TT daily is back again to offer you a tournament resumé, some fun stuff, our very up-to-date weather forecast and a day timetable.

Weather is looking good and concerning the teams we're looking up to three days of high leveled, razorsharp ultimate. Off course we'll point out what we suspect to be the most jawdropping highlight games of the next day, so you know where to go for inspiration if you're not on the pitch. Big up to all the teams playing and our tournament organiser Glenn, who made this thing work for years and did it again in 2011. Enjoy yourself and play to the maximum.

This day

"a little resumé"

Starting pretty intense at 11.00 with the youngsters of Tchak taking down Cota Rica, day one of Tom's Tourney promises to be a big one. At the other hand, Belgian Open can't keep up with Vibration Old Stars and have to settle with an 8-9 loss. Future is looking a bit grimmer even for Belgium after their loss against the Freespeed red army. Meanwhile, in Group A last years winners Cobra Kai are making walkovers all day, until their third game, where they have a bit more trouble winning from Heidees with 9-7.

In the afternoon, we watched a very close game of Fire of London against Cota Rica. Some Beautiful long throws from London and Italians going "Largi, Largi". Unfortunately a big discussion kills the atmosphere a bit at the end. At the same time Tchac and Ireland hop over each other at field (?). Both teams put up a big cup defence, with Ireland playing really patiently while Tchak goes for the give and go approach.

At field 1 CUSB La fotta and Team Shark play a very tight and exciting game at 16.00. With equal score just before time, Team Shark manages to finish off Bologna with a nice upside throw. Team Shark, first time in first division, are really coming in strong this way. But everything is still possible in Group D.

In second division, last years winners Blue Arse Flies do not really live up to the expectations by getting ass kicked twice already on the first day. Funcadelic Disc Band in group G are running there lungs out to win two out of three.

In the Ladies Division Hot Beaches are definitely going strong in Group M. Winning from every other team with big scores. Also big up for Plan B and the Swiss National Team in the other groups.

While we're writing this, weather is turning really bad with the showcase game between Silence and Cobra Kai still going on.

Shiva Grings

“Tonight’s show”

Tonight we present Shiva Grings, a real entertainer who travels around the world with his improvisation show “The Pigeon Chaser”. A singing, improvising and above all loveable clown will bring you an hour of pure improvisation. Every show is different and uses everything in its environment. Public, location, wind, even pigeons get sucked up in Shiva’s Improvisations. Be prepared for some serious on the fly action.

Highlight Games

“where to go for inspiration”

Open 1: Hard to tell yet because only tomorrow new pools will be formed. But at 13.30 winners of round 1 will be playing against each other at field 5 and 7. So expect a blast.

Open2: Round one pool winners at 14.30. Freezzzbeezzz - Sun at Pitch1 and Mooncatchers - Mucche al Pascolo at Pitch 4.

Ladies: Watch out for Plan B - Swiss National Team at 10.30 on Pitch11 and Hot Beaches Better Half of Mixed at 12.30 on Pitch10. Some real girlpower there!

TT Daily Playlist.

“Stuff we like to listen to while writing your daily gazette”

Dinosaur Jr. – Pieces
Wu-Tang Clan – Bring da Ruckus
Amon Tobin – Sordid
Phosphorecent – I Gotta Get Drunk
Pixies – Here Comes Your Man
Ramadanman – Blimey
The Rakes – 22 Grand Job
Para One – Nevrosis
Onra – The Anthem
Nhan Solo – Fortune Cookie

Weather Forecast

“Shorts or coat?”

Shit. Tomorrow will be cloudy, chance of showers in the morning but mostly dry in the afternoon.

