8.5 ways to win TT

1. Beat PJ.

Last year PJ challenged Davide from CUSB La Fotta, who apparently has been training the entire year to break the record and jump over 7 chairs with 3 persons sitting on them. Sure seems like whoever beats PJ in this legbreaking game, can be called the winner of TT 2014. Sounds like a challenge? Get going, film it all and send it to us using #tomstourney and #gethorizontal.

2. Intentionally injure most of the Bad Skid players.

Although we strongly discourage violence in Ultimate, or anywhere for that matter, this might be one (or the only one?) option of beating these German youngsters. However, remember to not break all of their legs, as they still need some players to participate for you to truly enjoy your victory. A simple mission for your team to bring home the trophy in the open division. In any way most definitely easier than trying to beat them. Need a ride to the hospital? Contact Get

3. Act like Freespeed or CUSB La Fotta.

Ask Freespeed how they won Tom's Tourney twice in a row (2012 & 2013), or even better CUSB La Fotta on how they won 3 continuous years (2007 & 2008 & 2009). Simply play like they tell you and kiss the cup. Twice. Or 3 times if you really listen carefully to CUSB captain Davide.

If you wanna know all about how Freespeed won last year, here's your chance to read the Tom's Tourney 2013 recap: <http://www.gethorizontal.be/tt13-recap-journey-to-toms-tourney/>

4. Dye your hairs blond.

Find a local hairdresser, tell him/her to dye your hairs blond, act like Justin Foord and sky the hell out of anybody to take home the Tom's Tourney cup.

5. Mark backwards.

Marking backwards is always a good way of trying to win the tournament. Innovation is what it's all about!

6. Mention Tom in your speech. Wait, Tom?

Tom's Tourney isn't called Tom's Tourney just for the fun of it. This tournament is a dedication to Tom Van Ryckeghem, a FreezzzBeezzz player who was taken from us way too early.

7. Bribe TD Glenn.

Glenn Nolf, also known as Sikken, is a legend. Organising TT is a big workload, but the way Glenn has done so in the past bazillion years is just impressive. Therefor just go up to him, say thanks, and ask him to cheat while writing down results. Simple as ABC.

8. Get Horizontal.

We don't need to explain this one.

8,5. Mark a sign every time one of your teammates drinks a Brugse Zot.

Last year all of you drank about 1050 liters of the famous local beer. Perhaps you fools (cause that's what Zot means in english) could win a drinking prize by indicating the amount of beers your team had over the weekend? Cheers
